Objectives

The health promotion project "Healthy Kids" was part of the WiG programme "Healthy Districts". Together with partners from the field of open youth work, we carried out the „Kinder-Gesundheitsstraße“ or the „WOW! Wohlfühlen in Wien“ project in nine Viennese districts. We aimed to

- support children in working out the meaning of health in their environment,
- transfer knowledge in the field of health promotion,
- strengthen partnerships and
- transfer the project experiences to stakeholders within and without the participating districts.

The project targeted kids and young people (between 6 and 12 years old) and staff members in the context of open youth and leisure work.

Implementation

The „Healthy Kids“ projects was carried out by a partnership consisting of IFEP – Institut für Erlebnispädagogik, Kinderfreunde Wien aktiv, Kinderfreunde Leopoldstadt, Kinderfreunde Brigittenau and JUVIVO. queraum was responsible for the coordination of the project.

The kids participated actively in the development and realisation of the projects "Kinder-Gesundheitsstraße" and "WOW! Wohlfühlen in Wien".
